Paper Presentation Guideline

The final date of presentation of the course will be on Jan 8, 2024. It will be a 8 minute presentation – which will be followed by 2 min Q/A.

You can break down the 8 minutes into 5 minutes plus 3 minutes, where the first 5 minute could be used for the presentation of the content of the paper and the last 3 minutes could be used for comparison of the paper content with the methods you learned in the class.

The last 3 minutes could either be used to critique or praise the paper's methodology/content. However, be very judicious if you would like to critique the paper – just saying the paper could have used a better approach for analysis will not be enough. You should be able to identify how the author could have improved the paper. A guideline for your presentation slide is given below.

- 5 min presentation of the paper – please include the following content in the 5 minutes
    - Objective of the work
    - Data
        - Source of data
            - Brief description of the survey if primary data is used for the work
        - Data collection method
        - Number of data points
        - Data collection units
    - Method used for analysis
    - Result
        - Discuss the result considering the objective

- 3 min comparison with the methods you learned in the class
    - You can either suggest a better approach for attaining the objective, or
    - You can identify that the method used in the paper is better than what you learned in the class
